Something smells phishy?

A cybercriminal, who knows your password, will abuse your computing account.

Never share your passwords with anybody.
Do not make them public, and beware of attempts to trick you into revealing them (so-called “phishing” attempts).

Choose good passwords.
Passwords should be hard to guess and cannot be found in any dictionary.

Do not reuse old passwords.
Do not use the same password for different purposes or at different sites.

Change your passwords regularly.

Let us help you:
visit http://cern.ch/Computer.Security or contact Computer.Security@cern.ch